

Employment Advertisement

LECO is an international company that has been developing and producing analytical systems for the determination of elements in organic and inorganic materials as well as machines from the fields of separation science and metallography since 1936. Our products are used in a wide range of laboratories in the environmental and fuel analysis, food and building materials industry as well as in the petrochemical industry. LECO provides a wide range of innovative laboratory systems and technologies.

For the South East (U.K.), we are looking for highly motivated and committed person to join our team

FIELD SERVICE ENGINEER

(Electrical/Electronic Engineer)

YOUR AREA OF RESPONSIBILITY

- Installations, Maintenance and Repairs of LECO products
- Providing customer training and technical support
- Planning work schedule and managing service area
- Inventory management of spare parts
- Completing detailed service reports for each job
- Communication with customers
- Liaising with the Service Manager and Service Coordinator
- Liaising with area account managers
- Supporting field service engineers in other territories
- Completing weekly expenses
- Additional training on LECO equipment
- Travel and overnight stay

YOUR QUALIFICATIONS

- HND/HNC (or above) in Electrical/Electronic Engineering
- Experience in servicing elemental analyser is preferable
- Knowledge of electrical circuits and systems, schematics and flow diagrams.
- Experience in electrical and mechanical maintenance
- Strong troubleshooting and fault finding skills
- Technical background and good IT skills
- Good written and oral communication skills
- Must be responsible, punctual and customer oriented
- Full clean UK driving license - Willingness to travel on short notice and overnight stay if required

OUR OFFER

- 6 months on the job training
- Competitive Salary
- Annual profit related bonus
- 25 days paid holiday plus bank holidays
- Company Car, Mobile Phone and iPad
- Pension Scheme
- Life Insurance
- Private health care
- Continual product training and development
- A long-term career in a dynamic and success-oriented team

We look forward to receiving your application documents by post or email to:

LECO Instruments UK Ltd

Jay Hodges

Unit 7 Rhino Court, Station View | Hazel Grove, Stockpot | SK7 5ER | Cheshire | United Kingdom
0161 487 5900 | jay_hodges@leco.com